SURRENDER OF ITALIAN STRONGHOLD OF BENGASI ANNOUNCED

GARRISON OF 25,000 SCATTERS

Striking in Blinding Sandstorm, Britain's Desert Troops Capture Fifth Major Fascist Stronghold in Eastern Libya, With Defenders Believed Attempting to Flee by Overland Route Over Highway Leading Toward Tripoli

ASSAULTS CONTINUE ON INVASION PORTS

By The Associated Press

Striking in a blinding snowstorm, Britain's desert troops have captured the Italian stronghold of Bengasi, in eastern Libya. British general headquarters announced today, and cut the Fascist line of communications south of the city.

The citadel, about 350 miles from the Egyptian frontier, surrendered yesterday.

British general headquarters said the Italians were "demoralized and outmaneuvered" in this latest British triumph of a westward sweep that has carried the Imperial Army of the Nile across 400 miles of desert in 61 days.

The fate of 25,000 Fascist troops garrisoned at the Mediterranean seaport, former headquarters of Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, was not immediately disclosed. Dispatches from Cairo, however, said Italian forces throughout the whole eastern region were capitulating or fleeing.

In London, British military quarters said Marshal Graziani's position in North Africa now was so bad that Premier Mussolini might be forced to risk the Italian fleet in an attempt to move reinforcements and supplies across the Mediterranean to Libya.

These quarters also pointed out that capture of Bengasi gives the British a short-distance base "from which we can hammer German-occupied bases in Sicily."

A 5-word communique by the British Middle East Command announced the latest blows at Italy's tottering African empire, declaring simply: "Bengasi is in our hands."

It was the fifth major Italian stronghold taken by the British since Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell launched a counter-offensive last Dec. 9, following in the wake of Sidi Barrani, 75 miles inside Egypt, and the Italian fortified towns of Bardia, Tobruk and Derna.

In the last eight days, since the capture of Derna, the British have advanced 160 miles.

Mussolini's High Command dropped a clue that the 25,000 Italian defenders of Bengasi may have attempted to flee by the only possible overland route of retreat—a highway leading south and then along the coast, across 650 miles of arid wastes to Tripoli.

"A violent battle is in progress between our troops and enemy formations south of Bengasi," the Fascist war bulletin said.

GREEKS SEIZE NEW POSITIONS

Athens, Feb. 7—(AP)—Greek occupation of positions north of the Trebessina mountain range has been completed, dispatches from that central Albanian front reported today.

(The Italian high command said no events of "special importance" took place yesterday on the Albanian battlefront.)

In the face of blinding rain and lightning, a British RAF communique said, British bombers carried out an air attack yesterday on Italian positions in the area west of Tepeleni. "Military stores, wooden huts and motor transport concentrations" were hit, it said.

Italian infantry was said to have attempted local counter-attacks in the Tepeleni area yesterday following two tank attacks the day before which the Greeks reported had been stopped.

The infantry charge was said to have been a well-organized attack, with the Italians mostly armed with automatic weapons. It, too, was repelled, nevertheless, said the Greeks, and the Italians fled in disorder after a brief, hard fight. The dispatches said the Greeks waited until the attackers were very close, then opened fire with machine-guns and grenades.

396 GRADUATE FROM ANNAPOLIS NAVAL ACADEMY

Exercises Are Held at This Time Instead of June, Because of Speedup In Officers Training Program Adopted Some Time Ago

SEC. KNOX IS SPEAKER

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 7—(AP)—Secretary Knox pictured for the graduating class at the United States Naval Academy today "a slave world subject to the imperial will of ruthless dictators" if control of the high seas should pass to "those who support the totalitarian theory of government."

The navy department chief congratulated the young ensigns upon having the "privilege" of entering their professional life at a time of grave situations.

Three hundred ninety-six men received diplomas at Annapolis today.

The class was graduated at this time instead of June, the normal graduation month, because of a speed up in the navy's officer training program adopted many months ago.

The plan similar in some respects to that employed during the

BLIND MEN AND WOMEN BEGGARS ORGANIZED

Philadelphia, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Detectives uncovered today what they said was an organized interstate ring of blind men and women beggars.

The disclosure came with the arrest of five men—one blind—after the blind man was unable to find his way to his parked automobile with $123 Detective Dennis McColligan said he had collected from shop-keepers last night.

The detective said police found four men in the machine. They were taken into custody as suspicious characters. The blind man was booked as James James, 30, of Youngstown, Ohio, and charged with panhandling and vagrancy.

A search was begun, McColligan said, for another blind man and three blind women who were known to be "working" other sections of the city. They named one of the women as the leader of the group.

ROME EMBASSY IS GUARDED BY FASCIST TROOPS

Rome, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Italian troops were drawn up around the United States embassy today to ward off an anticipated student demonstration, but the demonstrators disbanded before reaching that part of town.

Soldiers with rifles, including the picturesque Bersaglieri with cock feathers in their hats, marched back and forth in midtown sidestreets and took up posts in courtyards.

The military patrols, in groups of 25 were reduced to smaller squads around noon, but in mid-afternoon they still were in considerable numbers in the vicinity of the embassy.

It was the first show of military protection since before Italy's declaration of war against Britain and France last June 10, when embassies of those two nations were objects of hostile demonstrations.

The students scattered, however, as they did in a similar demonstration yesterday, without approaching the embassy. They had massed at Fascist headquarters

Will Not Permit Nazis To Use Bizerte Base

Vichy, France, Feb. 7—(AP)—General Maxime Weygard has denied in the name of the French government that France is intending to let Germany use the naval base at Bizerte, French Tunisia, and has declared that no negotiations are underway for cession of Bizerte or the landing of German troops there for Libya.

Weygand, supreme commander of armies in French North Africa, made these statements in a radio address yesterday at Algiers, Algeria.

Word of the broadcast reached here today.

P. W. A. JOBS TO TAKE UP SLACK AFTER THE WAR

Washington, Feb. 7—(AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed at a press conference today that plans have been undertaken to build up a reservoir of Public Works Projects to take up the slack of defense employment after the war.

He said these projects, such as highway construction, hospitals, airports and housing, would be put on a shelf and be brought out when the need develops.

They would consist, Mr. Roosevelt said, of any kind of public works, but especially the type that would provide some kind of return of capital to the government.

During the current congressional session, the chief executive said, the passage of various authorization bills may be expected.

These, he emphasized, will not carry appropriations. Once the projects are authorized, he explained, they will be filed away and be ready to start when the necessity arises for giving jobs to people now engaged in defense production.

The president's discussion of the subject developed when he was asked whether a new highway might be built from Washington to Baltimore, passing near Fort Meade and the army's proving ground at Aberdeen, Md.

Such a highway, Mr. Roosevelt

Al Nettlow, Detroit, who meets Bob Montgomery of Philadelphia in the eight-round semi-windup, scaled 145. Montgomery weighed 139¾.

NAZI SUB GETS TWO MORE SHIPS

Berlin, Feb. 7—(AP)—A German submarine sank two armed enemy merchantmen totaling 12,000 tons and a Nazi speedboat sent a British coastal steamer to the bottom off the English east coast, the High Command reported today.

German combat planes made an "harrassment" raid on the British island stronghold of Malta, in the Mediterranean, its communique said, while other planes, despite bad weather, made "an armed reconnaissance of the sea region around England, mining British ports."

In British attempts to "penetrate the occupied region on the channel coast yesterday evening and in the night hours," it said, the only affect was that "in one harbor town small fires were caused by incendiaries."

(The British reported their bombers had started fires in dock areas at Boulogne, Dunkerque and Dieppe and attacked harbor facilities at Calais and Fecamp.)

One British bomber was reported shot down by anti-aircraft while another was said to have been forced down and the crew taken prisoners.

Army Life Takes Key Officials From the State's Capital for Year's Training In Ranks

Most of Them Will Go to Indiantown Gap February 17 as Members of the Pennsylvania National Guard; Scores May Be Drafted

ICKES AND HIS FOSTER SON TO ARBITRATE WILL

Chicago, Feb. 7—(AP)—Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior and his foster son, Robert, 25, agreed yesterday to the appointment of an arbiter to settle their differences over the interpretation of the will of the secretary's first wife, disposing of an estate estimated at $800,000.

Mrs. Anna Wilmarth Ickes was killed in an automobile accident in New Mexico, Aug. 21, 1935.

The differences concerned a section of the will in which a trust estate is set up for Robert from which he would derive annual incomes of $5,000 in the years before he became 30, $7,500 up to 35 years of age, and $10,000 thereafter. After naming two trustees, however, the will set forth that Harold L. Ickes was to be given full title to all property, including the trust estate.

Harold Ickes since has contended that the estate was not a trust to be executed by him for Robert, but was an estate solely for himself. Robert has contended that although the full title to the estate was turned over to the secretary, the estate remained in trust for him.

Robert's attorney, Henry S. Blum, said under the agreement reached in Superior Court Judge U. S. Schwartz would construe the will and decide the merits of Robert's claim. If the will should be

Quadruplets Born to North Dakota Woman Thursday Are Reported as Doing Nicely

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 7—(AP)—Nick Brown, with a smile as big as his big face, one fist full of cigars and the other full of handshakes, had heard the question 20 times if he'd heard it once yesterday:

"Nick, what did you say when they told you you had four new kids?"

Nick replied:

"Boy, I didn't say a dang thing. I just looked."

Through a glass window as two nurses scurried about, he looked at a girl and three boys to whom his 37-year-old wife gave birth yesterday afternoon in St. John's Hospital.

That doubled the Brown family. They have four other boys, ages 16 months, 3, 10 and 12 years. "Seven boys to get a girl," laughed Nick.

In another hospital room, tired but happy and in good health was the tall, slender mother. She smiled faintly and murmured she was glad it was over and that

MAN SHOT WHILE MINDING INFANT

New York, Feb. 7—(AP)—The body of a man shot to death while minding the four-month-old daughter of a couple in the Bronx, was identified today by police as that of Benjamin Tannenbaum, 35, alias "Ben the Boss".

The man was shot twice in the chest last night in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Max Heitner, in Featherbed Lane, but the shots didn't awaken the baby Paulette. Neighbors of the Heitners were aroused, however, and summoned police.

A radio was going full blast when police entered, and the body lay in a foyer between the bedroom and the living room. The officers found two revolvers, one in a suitcase on a shelf in the

DISASTER IN NEVADA IS PROBED

While CCC Camp Enrollees Stand Guard and Campfires Light Gruesome Scene Army Investigators Seek to Determine Why New-Type Bomber Crashed On Mountainside Near Lovelock, Cremating the Entire Crew

OFFICER DISCOUNTS POSSIBLE SABOTAGE

By The Associated Press

Lovelock, Nev., Feb. 7—While CCC camp enrollees stood guard and campfires lit the gruesome scene, army investigators today sought to determine why a new-type bomber crashed on a mountainside near here yesterday, cremating its crew of eight.

It was the fourth air disaster in the west this year involving United States warplanes.

The plane, one of the army's newest four-motored bombers, carried equipment for experiments in cold weather flying and might have had installed air corps' jealously-guarded secret bombsight.

Scene of the tragedy was a mountain which abruptly rises 1,000 feet from the desert 12 miles southwest of this city.

Possibility of sabotage was discouraged by Col. F. C. Nelson, commanding officer of McClelland Field at Sacramento, Calif., starting point of the ill-fated flight.

A rumor that an attempt to sabotage planes at the field had been discovered about a week ago was neither confirmed nor denied by Colonel Nelson.

BROTHERHOODS ARE PLANNING STRIKE BALLOT

By the Associated Press

The possibility that about 750,000 class 1 railroad employes, members of 14 standard brotherhoods, might strike for paid vacations centered labor's attention today.

George M. Harrison, spokesman for the 14 unions, announced in Washington yesterday that barring a last minute settlement strike ballots would be mailed to the membership February 15.

Thirty days would be allowed for the voting, however, and that, coupled with the 60 day "cooling off" period provided under the railroad mediation act, would prevent an actual walkout until late spring, provided a strike was called. Meanwhile efforts would be made to mediate this dispute.

The 14 labor organizations involved include all the standard brotherhoods except the trainmen and engineers, dispatchers and pullman conductors.

At Chicago 6,500 employes of

MAX ANNENBERG DIES IN PHOENIX, ARIZONA

Phoenix, Arizona, Feb. 7—(AP)—Max Annenberg, 66, former circulation director of the New York Daily News and a brother to M. L. Annenberg, publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer, died here early today.

Annenberg came here about six weeks ago to recuperate from injuries suffered in an automobile accident last fall. He had been staying in a Phoenix suburb, although he owned a pretentious winter home 50 miles north of the city, at which he had spent much time in recent years.

His wife, Etta, was at his bedside when he died.

Nye Is Impressed By Lindbergh's Ability

Washington, Feb. 7—(AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh's demonstrated ability at matching wits and words with some of the ablest senators brought a suggestion from Senator Nye (R-ND) that the famed aviator seek a place in congress.

"He'd be an amazing strength here," the senator said, after Lindbergh had gone through hours of questioning about his opposition to the British aid bill.

Lindbergh, asked directly if he planned to seek a seat in the Senate or House, told reporters "I have nothing to say about that."

WINANT PLANS TO LEAVE FOR LONDON SOON

Washington, Feb. 7—(AP)—President Roosevelt told reporters today that John G. Winant probably would leave for England, where he will be the new United States ambassador, in about ten days.

Asked about the background of the appointment of the former governor of New Hampshire, which was sent to the Senate for confirmation yesterday, the president said that Winant had a lot of experience that fitted him for the job.

While conceding that there has to be some discussion of politics and of Democrats and Republicans, the chief executive said it was a mistake to stress in news stories that Winant was a Republican.

The president declared that his newly designated ambassador had been appointed because he was an American. He added that he thought there was a nice distinction there and that he could have said the same thing had he named a Democrat.

The president said he knew of no further diplomatic appointments that might be expected in the next few days and indicated that nothing might be done soon, at any rate, about the designation of a minister to England.

The president said he expected to see Wendell L. Willkie upon his return from England and would be delighted to talk with him as soon as he arrived. But he said they had no definite engagement.

Similarly, he asserted, he supposed he would see Colonel William J. Donovan, who has been visiting various European nations.

AIR POWER DEFICIENT 'ACE' SAYS

Major Al Williams, Former Navy Speed Flier, Accuses Administration of "Stripping" First Line Planes From Departments to Aid Britain and Insists Enactment of Measure Will Mean "Virtual Suicide" for America

WADSWORTH URGES SEVEN BILLION TOP

Washington, Feb. 7—(AP)—Major Al Williams, former navy speed flier, accused the administration today of "stripping" the first line planes from army and navy squadrons to aid Britain and said enactment of the lend-lease bill would mean "virtual suicide of the American way of life."

The legislation, he asserted, "negatives all chances of developing American air power," which he charged is being weakened "day-by-day" in order to send planes to Europe.

Testifying before the Senate foreign relations committee Williams in a prepared statement said that "America today is woefully deficient in air power. In fact, American air power is a 'myth'. The neglect to provide for that vital arm for America's national defense system is nothing short of criminal."

Williams said the United States armed forces have no single-seater fighting plane that can "hold a candle" to the British and German pursuit ships clashing in combat over England.

The United States, Williams said, is "sadly deficient" in engines. He did not mean to imply, he added, that the manufacturers of existing engines were to blame. He said the fault lay more in the fact that dependence had been placed too largely in three types of streamlined, liquid-cooled engines.

Under questioning by Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis) Williams expressed the belief that a mistake was being made in turning over so-called "obsolescent" or "obsolete" ships to other nations. These ships were needed badly, he contended, for the secondary training of pilots who otherwise might have to go direct from relatively slow trainers to first line combat ships.

That was one of the reasons for the failure of the French air force to stop the Germans, he said.

Williams testified that he thought Germany now was turning out from 3,000 to 5,000 planes a month. He said also that while he was on air inspection trips of Europe in 1938, he learned that the Germans were turning out 600 war planes a month, using only one 8-hour shift of workmen and only one-fourth of the machinery available in plane factories.

Williams said he advised Lord Beaverbrook, now in charge of British aircraft production, of what he had learned. Beaverbrook replied, William said, that the bomber was "a muchly over-advertised myth" which the British would "blow out of the air" with their anti aircraft guns.

In reply, Williams said he told

Employment Rolls in State Hit New Peak

Harrisburg, Feb. 7—(AP)—Pennsylvania's employment rolls reached new peaks at the end of 19[illegible] but a "leveling-off" is in prospect for the state during the first few months of the current year.

Secretary of Labor and Industry Lewis G. Hines said the employment outlook for the immediate future was difficult to estimate because "certain stringencies in plant facilities, labor and material will tend to prevent further large gains before the late spring."

Hines disclosed that at the beginning of the current year employment rolls in the state reached 3,417,000, approximately 225,000 more than were employed at the start of last year.

During last December alone, 48,000 persons were added to the state's payrolls.

Hines reported that a total of $625,000,000 in government defense orders were placed with Pennsylvania firms last year.

NEW CHAMPIONS CROWNED IN ELK BRIDGE TOURNEY

Topping a field of 22 pairs, Dr. Gail Ridelsperger and D. A. "Chingo" Scalise won the contract bridge championship for men's pairs of Warren county in last night's play at the Elks' clubhouse.

They become the fourth pair whose names will be inscribed on the Elks' trophy, possession of which is awarded them for the coming year. In the four years in which the lodge has sponsored this tourney, no single winner has been able to repeat.

Finishing second last night were Henry Hunzinger and Ange Scalise, an admittedly strong pair in tournament play experience. In third place were Dr. Ernest J. Fogel and Carl Hultberg, who beat out many more experienced pairs.

In fourth position were Dr. Robert Israel and Jordan Overturf, last year's champions. H. T. Flowers and G. W. Irwin were tied with Herbert Murphy and Dominic Vetrie for fifth place.

Among the 44 players participating were most of the well known contract players of the whole county, several new to tournament play showing to fine advantage.

At the conclusion of the play, a buffet lunch was served by the house committee of the lodge, completing an enjoyable fourth annual event.

Amusements

"GONE WITH THE WIND"

At the Library Theatre—5 Big Days Starting Today

"Gone With The Wind," which opens Friday for 5 days at the Library Theatre, is undoubtedly the most faithful filimization of a novel in Hollywood history. It is Margaret Mitchell's great story of the Old South without deviation and practically without elimination. After this has been recorded, little more need be said as an unqualified recommendation for the picture. Millions of readers consider the novel one of the greatest stories of all time; a faithful filming of that story must of necessity make the picture one of the greatest of movie history.

The picture is currently being shown in its complete full-length version—nothing cut but the price—offering those who have not witnessed it previously the entertainment treat of a lifetime.

"Gone With The Wind" is truly a picture where the use of superlatives is woefully inadequate. To see it is an unforgettable experience to miss it will be a tragedy in the life of every film lover.

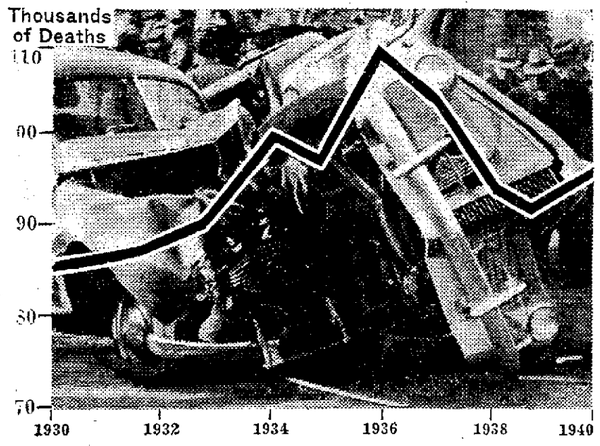
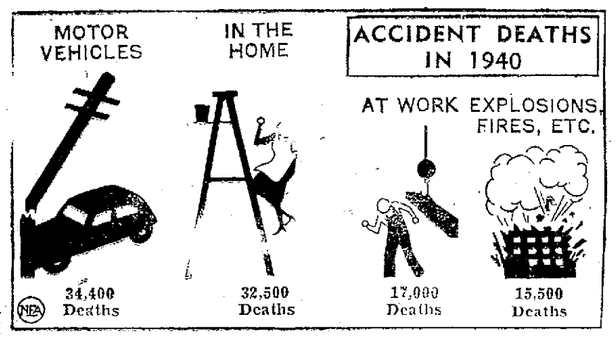
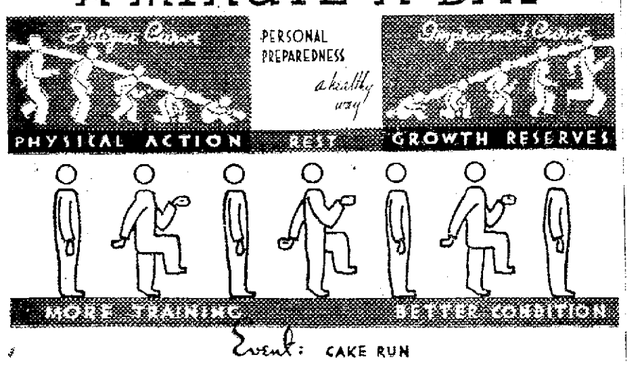
Accident Deaths Rise in 1940





Deaths from accidents, after a steady decline from the 1936 peak of 110,052, took a 4 per cent rise in 1940 when 96,500 persons were killed in some form of accident in the U. S. Pictochart shows rise and fall in number of deaths from accidents during past 10 years and principal causes of violent deaths during 1940.

A·MINUTE·A·DAY



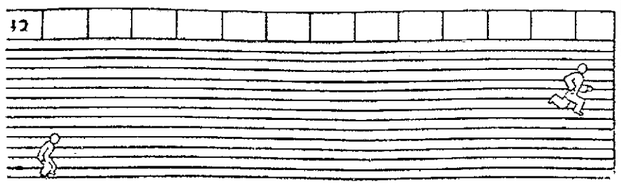
Event: CAKE RUN

An "all-out" program for personal preparedness that requires but one minute a day is the contribution which the University of Pittsburgh Student Health Service is making toward national defense. It is recommended that each person go slowly at first until the event and the breathing are mastered. The number of events completed in one minute is the index of the day's application, and may be recorded in the chart at the bottom.

The event for today is designed to improve grace and poise as well as physical condition. The first stage, as illustrated above, is relaxation, expiration of air, body upright, feet together, and arms at the sides. The second stage is to raise self up on left toes, right leg brought up with flexion at the knees and hips, left arm extended down and back, right arm up and flexed at elbow all with inspiration of the breath. The third stage is a repetition of the first stage, with relaxation and expiration. The fourth stage starts with inspiration of air, body raised up on right toes, left leg up with flexion at knees and hips, left arm up with flexion at elbow, right arm extended down and back. These are the four stages to complete each cycle of this event.

After mastery of the skill of the event and breathing, repeat the various stages as fast as possible for one minute, or until fatigued. Record the number of events executed each day as an index. A succession of these numbers will give you a graph of the curve of improvement. The average number of events executed the first day is indicated in the first square. If your number is less, do not be discouraged. The real purpose is to increase the number daily over a two-weeks' period.

The fatigue curve at the upper left corner may be produced through greater efforts than used in a minute a day. Use the event described above. Repeat the event as fast as possible for ten seconds. Record the number and rest for ten seconds. Repeat this procedure ten times. Each succeeding ten seconds should show a decreasing number of cycles with increasing fatigue. Lack of such decreasing uniformity to the curve suggests need for analysis. The fatigue curve is a physiologically established fact. Non-conformity might indicate structural or functional ill health. If the latter, it may be due to the failure to give one's best effort because of lack of desire, or understanding, or of ability. Lack of ability might indicate lack of habitual application, hunger, fatigue, emotional, or other causes. The fatigue curve can serve as an indicator of our ability to work.



USE SILVER TRUMPETS

On state occasions, the household cavalry of England uses trumpets made of solid silver. Eight in a set, they weigh about 30 ounces each and cost between $180 and $200

PATRIOTS—NOT PRESIDENTS

Not named for presidents were the counties of Lincoln, Cleveland and Wilson, in North Carolina. The first two were named for Revolutionary patriots and the third for a general in the Mexican War.

ANNIVERSARY OF SALEM CHURCH BEING PLANNED

Elaborate plans have been made by the Salem Evangelical church for the anniversary of the dedication of a new, modernly equipped annex to the church on February 8, 1925, and services on Sunday morning will mark the passing of 16 years.

Special selections by the orchestra and choir will add to other festivities planned. Two laymen of the congregation will participate in the service which begins at 9:45 o'clock and continues with a unified program into the regular morning service.

Fred Ristau will speak on the the theme, "Faith of Our Fathers Living Still"; the pastor, Rev. Stephen R. Schieb, will talk on "Faith Of Our Generations," and Ivan Rydholm will have as his topic, "Faith Of Our Youth." The choir will sing Ira B. Wilson's anthem, "Delight Thyself in the Lord."

In conjunction with this anniversary observance, the church is launching a campaign to liquidate its indebtedness during 1941.

The evening service at Salem church will consist of an installation of Epworth League Christian Endeavor officers and staff. A beautiful program has been prepared as a souvenir and a lovely pageant planned for the installation.

The Christian Endeavor is carrying out the "Rainbow Jubilee" service celebrating the 60th anniversary of the organization. Miss Phyllis Backstrom is the local president and other officers are Elvira Rydholm, Melda Olson, Myron Rydholm, Alberta Ristau, Emil Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Huber and Ruth Ackert.

CAPITAL GOSSIP

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Answering the mail orders (matters mostly military):

L. D., Columbus, O.—Army officials here tell me that the first major league baseball player to come in under selective service is Gene Stack, Chicago White Sox rookie pitcher. He is now at Fort Custer, Mich. There are other baseball players, football men from college and pro teams, and athletes in a dozen other fields on the draft lists. It is merely the law of averages that has resulted in no more of these being called to date. Selective service officials say that there is no exception made merely because a man is a professional athlete or a college star. Every camp is going to have its athletic teams to match against other camps. This is an important phase of the entertainment and morale program by which army officials hope to make that year's training something that all the young men will be eager to dive into. Consequently, I think if selective service were playing any favorites at all, it would not favor the athletes. A baseball player or football star who draws around $20,000 a year in the professional field will be worth a lot to the army, too. Think how many youngsters would be happy to enlist if they could be in the same company with Joe DiMaggio, Whizzer White, Tommy Harmon, Bob Feller or "Big John" Kimbrough.

* * *

F. T. M., Fort Worth, Tex.—I'm afraid I can't give you very much information about home guard uniforms. The only specific ruling that the war department has made on them so far is that they must be entirely different from army, navy or marine corps uniforms. Before any units order uniforms they should take the matter up with the war department through the nearest quartermaster corps. The reason is that the war department doesn't want home guard units taking on uniforms made from materials which might be nearing a shortage because of the demands of the military program.

* * *

T. W., Key West, Fla.—Practically all of the new army camps are named for generals of one rank or another and, on rare occasions, for officers of lesser rank who have written their names in the American history books. There are two camps, however, which have been named for privates. One is Camp Barkeley at Abilene, Tex., and the other, Camp Roberts, near Nacimiento, Calif. Private David B. Barkeley was a young Texan. In the World war he volunteered to swim the Meuse river under enemy fire in an effort to get important military information. On his return trip, he drowned — but not until he was close enough to shore for comrades to find his body and discover that he had brought back the vital information desired. Corp. Harold Roberts also was killed in action in France under conditions which merited capital letters in the army's books, but the army officials I talked with couldn't put their fingers quickly on the record.

* * *

K. R. N., Brookline, Mass.—The controversy over the Garand rifle seems to have died down here. Checking with army officials, I couldn't unearth even an argument. As a matter of fact, they were fairly popping with the latest accomplishments of their official semi-automatic rifle. It seems that they just had had official reports on the gun from Alaska, where the Garand has been given severe tests under 20-degree-below-zero temperature. Results were said to be as good as if the boys were firing off Miami and Santa Monica beaches in chamber of commerce weather. From an unofficial but generally reliable source, I have it that the army now has about 100,000 Garands and plans more than to triple the number within the next year. It never was the army's plan to equip every infantryman with one of these guns.

Russell

Russell, Feb. 5.—The annual banquet of the "Win Them" Women's Sunday school class was held at the church Tuesday evening with forty-five in attendance. The table decorations were in keeping of St. Valentine's Day. The Secret Sisters were revealed and each member received a gift. It was voted not to have the Secret Sisters for the ensuing year. Mrs. Paul Wood was in charge of the program. Several members gave readings. The refreshment committee for the March meeting is Mrs. Wheelock, Mrs. Wiltsie, Mrs. George Wood, Mrs. Wesner and Mrs. Wright.

INDIAN TRAVOIS

The primitive vehicle used by plains Indians for hauling their belongings was known as a travois. Two dragging poles served as shafts for a dog or horse, and a platform was laid across the two.

ADVICE TO SELECTEES

An interesting letter has just been received by H. W. Correll, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, from his son, Robert F. Correll, of Beaver Falls, who volunteered for training service and was sent to Fort George G. Meade, Maryland, and later to Fort Sill, Oklahoma. Because it contains much advice that should be found helpful to local boys about to be inducted into the service, permission has been given for its publication. Bob's comments follow:

"The day you report at the induction station and pass your physical examination a new life is starting for you. A life entirely different from anything you have ever lived before, unless you at some time have been a member of the armed forces of the United States.

"The first thing is, Don't bring a lot of junk to camp with you, but bring necessities. It is best to bring a small traveling bag in which you should have a few toilet articles—a complete toilet kit will come in handy—a couple of towels and a shoe shine kit (brown) unless you want to buy one in camp; because you will have to keep your shoes shined at all times. A small sewing kit will come in handy, too. Bring a pen and some writing paper and envelopes to last you until you are settled in a permanent post where you can buy some. White shirts will be allowed with your uniform for dress; so if you care to, bring white shirts, but no colored ones.

"Now about the first few days in camp. The camp to which you are sent will be a Recruit Reception Center and not a permanent post. Every day hundreds enter and hundreds go out. Everything will be temporary, so don't become disgusted or discouraged. The meals will be very good, considering that about 2,000 men eat in each mess hall each meal. Before I came to this man's army I was eating in one of the best restaurants of the state and I have yet to find here a meal I could not eat. No, it is not like mother's cooking; but it is good wholesome food and as a rule well prepared. (You get a poor meal at home once in a while.)

"The day after you get to camp you will take an I. Q. test and be classified as to the kind of work you are best equipped for. Several days after being classified you will be shipped over to your permanent post.

"Make the best of everything; don't find fault with meals, etc. Keep your mouth shut and your eyes open and you will get along fine."

WE'RE STILL AHEAD

Violent and sudden death is always a source of horror, whether it drops from the skies, as in England, or rushes along the roads, as in the United States.

The final figures on accidents for 1940 are in, and they are a national reproach: 96,500 dead, 9,100,000 injured. Of the fatalities, almost thirty of them occurred in Warren county. The national accident toll is probably more dead and injured than in Britain as a result of air raids. Our dead are just as dead, our injured suffered no less excruciatingly.

Motor vehicle accidents increased six per cent in a field which had been able to reduce its toll consistently for some years. Industrial accidents also increased, probably both due somewhat to the increased tempo of the arms drive.

The National Safety Council is quite right in pointing out that there is now a further reason, aside from ordinary common sense, to try to reduce accidents in 1941. That is, that every man or woman killed, every day lost through accidents, is a drain on national defense at a time when there is every reason to increase its strength and husband its power.

Another forceful speaker was heard by a large group of interested citizens last evening when the Rotary club presented Dr. Nicholas R. Doman, foremost student of international affairs, as the third number in the current series sponsored by that civic organization.

The important part that potato growing holds among Warren county agriculturists was emphasized by the interest shown at the meeting held today at the Y. M. C. A. when a large group of farmers discussed plans for the coming season and listened to several helpful addresses on the subject.

[illegible] the prediction that Warren [illegible] Scouts are going to have a busy [illegible] Camp Birdsall Eder.

Threats of [illegible] charges, it appears the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers is going [illegible]

Folks [illegible] beach for years shouldn't be surprised to [illegible] and it has vanished.

Wayward Jamestown [illegible] should soon learn that there may be more profitable fields for petty pranks than the local area.

Next Witnesses at the Capitol?

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There was a sign in West 46th street that said "Free Lecture Tonight at 8:30—Everybody Invited."

The sign didn't say what the lecture was about. Some signs do. They give you fair warning what the haranguing is to be about, but this one didn't. It simply stressed the words "free" and "everybody invited."

Now, it happened that I was passing there just a few minutes before the 8:30 deadline, and on the impulse of the moment I stuck my head through the door.

This was a mistake. There was a man about half way down the aisle and he shouted good naturedly, "Come in, brother, and sit down. It doesn't cost a cent." It was the way he said it that disturbed me. He might just as well have said, "There's one grab him before he gets away."

* * *

I SUPPOSE there were about 50 people in the hall, mostly men. They were there because it was cold outside, and it was warm inside, and they could sit down for awhile without anybody bothering them. The only penalty they had to pay was listening to somebody talk. They didn't seem to mind that.

Presently the speaker ambled onto the stage and began giving away advice. He was in love with vegetables. He rattled off a long paean in praise of beets, turnips and squashes. Then he warned against meats.

"Anybody who eats meat is eating a corpse," he cried. Possibly he didn't consider it necessary to credit George Bernard Shaw with this observation. Shaw said this 25 years ago and has been repeating it off and on ever since. But never with the intensity of purple passion that this fellow used. I say "purple" with reservations because the veins in his forehead had begun to swell, and they may have been blue. I am slightly color-blind.

BUT after warning of warts, flat feet, high blood pressure, incipient blindness, and ingrowing toenails, not to mention hardening of the arteries and possibly Bright's disease as the inevitable consequences of lambchops and T-bone steaks, our crusader backslid to the extent of citing one minor exception. He thought it might be all right to eat a little fish now and then, possibly on Fridays, without altogether wrecking one's constitution. But carrots, spinach and corn—these were the true staffs of life. They were what guaranteed longevity and built bone and sinew. They were what caused the red corpuscles to leap like trout through a man's veins.

It was at this moment that the meeting—for me—broke up. From the rear of the hall came a dark, sour voice that said simply, "Aw, nuts!"

"Listen," he went on, "when you give a man a transfusion, what do you pump into his veins—prune juice or blood!"

Then he walked out. And so did I.

Panama Again Controls Destinies of Americas

FOCAL point of western hemisphere defense is the Panama Canal, closely guarded gateway between Atlantic and Pacific. And thus Panama regains, to some extent, the importance in American affairs the area possessed four centuries ago.

The full story of the Panama Canal is available to philatelists in the Canal Zone commemorative set, marking the 25th anniversary of the opening of the waterway. Panama's stamp issues also contain many pictures of the canal and its buildings. One of the favorite Panama issues, however, is the Olympic Games issue of 1938, which included the stamp above.

Panama was one of the first districts of the New World colonized by Europeans. Six years after Balboa's discovery of the Pacific, in 1513, the city of Panama was founded. The colonial government governed all territory from Nicaragua to the Straits of Magellan, including Peru, Chile, Argentina.

Panama lost its importance with the rise of South American republics; is the youngest republic of the Pan American group. The nation includes an area of 33,667 square miles, has a population of approximately 500,000.

CRANIUM CRACKERS

STATE STUMPERS

It's generally conceded everyone knows there are now 48 states and that the nation started out with 13, but there are some things about these United States that would stick even a resident of the one involved. Take a tour of the country with these questions about states and see if you can discover the answers.

1. What states are called the Diamond State; the Gem State, and the Copper State?
2. What states are named after a U. S. president, after an English king, after an English queen, and after a French king?
3. What was the last state admitted to the Union?
4. Which state lies the furthest north?
5. Name five states named after Indian tribes.

PUSH PLANS TO BRING TRAINING PROGRAM HERE

A meeting was held at the high school yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock when efforts were continued to bring a federal grant here to set up an Industrial Train-School in Warren. In many other towns and cities these schools are already in operation and have proved helpful with the country's war defense work program. It is hoped that the local committee may be successful in securing government aid to develop such a school.

If the school become a reality here, the local committee intends to start with a course in arc welding and add other machinist trades as equipment is available. The former highway offices and garage in Pennsylvania avenue, west, is the tentative site selected by the committee for the school.

Members of the committee who were present at yesterday's meeting were Joseph H. DeFrees, chairman; John G. Rossman, secretary; R. W. Mackay, J. H. Levine, Leonard Swanson, Glenn Morley and Harry Baxter.

A new federal bill provides for the expenditure of $327,000,000 for improving highways during the next two years for defense purposes.

ALONG CAME CINDERELLA

By VIVIEN GREY

YESTERDAY: Lovely Daye has spent the day with her friend Joe Hulse and another couple picnicking along the Hudson. And it was Lovely's beauty that kept young Roger Cosgrave from driving the party off his parents' estate. Now, still swayed by the beauty of the scene she has left, Lovely returns to her sister's flat to find Gert and her husband Ring quarreling violently.

Chapter Three

Runaway

"SHE might be if she wasn't asking her husband to support a big lazy galoot of a sister." Ring spoke sullenly.

"You keep still about my sister!" Gert shouted. "You know she's tried and tried to get a job and can't. Lovely'll get one as soon as there's a job to get."

"Lovely!" Derisively. "What can you expect of a frill with a name like that! Your mother must have been nuts when she picked that one."

"You shut up about my mother or I'll brain you!" Gert's voice was suddenly jungle wild.

"And you've named your own brat Sunshine!" Ring's voice was rough with ugly mirthless laughter. "Sunny! There's one for you! Swell name to hang on a kid. What'd'yu expect she'll ever be? Lovely and Sunny!"

"Don't strain yourself to be nasty," Gert's voice was knife-like with irony. "It's no fun for Lovely to have to accept favors from you."

"Then why don't she pair up with that guy that's wearing the seats of our chairs out?"

"You're filthy, Ring Mulcahy. She's young and this's the only home she's got. I don't care what you do or say to me, Lovely isn't going out on the ——" But Lovely couldn't listen to any more.

Gert had always been a human marvel to her. A tender wonder. Suddenly she assumed heroic proportions. But she couldn't let Gert go on that way any more. Much of Gert's and Ring's trouble had been over her, her extra mouth to feed, her extra body to clothe. That would stop tonight.

Lovely turned and moved noiselessly down the stair.

Out in the night air, still jangling with only partially muted street noises even at that hour, she moved swiftly toward Fifth Avenue. She must get as far as possible from the atmosphere of that walk-up flat.

Her steps slowed as they turned north on the avenue. She was acutely aware of her slacks, which she had stopped to roll down to her ankles. If she'd only put on a dress that morning when she started out. But who could look twelve hours into the future and know this would be happening? That she would be strolling up Fifth Avenue with no particular destination in mind?

She was aware of a policeman's second glance. It was the hour of course, and the slacks. And the fact that she was moving easily without any apparent purpose.

Lovely was getting tired. She had walked and walked. Grand Central Station wasn't much farther. You could sit down there. People always waited there and no one paid any attention. And it would be a place to think. Lovely knew the problem she faced would take some thinking.

The Past

SHE lost herself on a bench in a far corner. She could even sleep there if she had to. No one would disturb her until she'd been there too noticeably long. She would be safe for the rest of the night anyhow.

Gert wouldn't worry about her. She'd often stayed all night with Katie. Gert would suppose that's what she'd done when she didn't come in. Lovely pondered Gert. Tall, angular where Lovely was curved. Thin where Lovely was slim. Neither quite blonde nor brunette, in contrast to Lovely's striking blondeness. It seemed Lovely had gotten all that was best in whatever her parents had to give. And Gert had gotten all the undecided qualities except those within. Gert's generosity, her loyalty, her heart were no undecided things.

She was good, Lovely thought, straight through.

Gert, being the older, had some memory of her parents. Lovely had none. First their father had vanished. One Saturday night had seemed to swallow him up as a wave does the litter at the water's edge.

Less than a year later their mother, perhaps worn out with the struggle, had vanished in the same way. Just walked out into the night, telling the two young children not to wait up for her.

Eventually neighbors had informed authorities who came and put them in an orphanage.

Lovely paused on the thought of her mother. Old questions were like fire leaping in the darkness. Questions that probably never would be answered because she and Gert were like two shells washed up on a beach and then left there forgotten. Strange there were no aunts or uncles or grandparents like other kids had. The other children had people coming to see them. No one ever came and asked for those two solemn little girls, Gertrude and Lovely.

She was aware of a policeman's glance.

It had been unendurable at the home after Gert left. Not that anyone was unkind. It was just the loneliness. But even then Lovely had shaped a sort of shining armor of her pride, and worn it continually so no one ever knew what was really in her frightened little girl heart.

She thought it was the gladdest day of her life when Gert came for her, with credentials showing she was able to care for her sister. Gert was marrying a man with a job, a plumber's young helper. And he had said, after looking at her picture, that Lovely might live with them.

Ring, Again

IT HAD worked out for a while. Ring had pinched her cheek and gone from that to other familiarities. Lovely was young and puzzled and not quite happy. It was after Sunny came that Gert saw Ring kissing Lovely one day, kissing her over Lovely's frantic resistance.

"Stop that!" Gert said sharply.

"Can't you take it, old girl?" Ring asked in irony. "Wouldn't be jealous, would you?"

"I'm not thinking of myself, Ring," Gert said with steady coldness. Lovely didn't understand then. She had Sunny in her arms.

"Oh," nastily, "want to keep the kid pure, eh?"

"I want her to have a chance if there is such a thing for a girl." Gert replied. "At least it won't be her own sister's husband who gums up that chance if I can help it."

"Oh, it won't, eh?" mocked Ring. "I was just showing her her way around a little."

It was the first actual outbreak Lovely had seen but young as she was she realized something must have been brewing under the surface for a long time.

Gert was smiling when she came out.

"Don't mind it, baby," she said. "Life's sliced in a lot of funny shapes and when you get a piece like that you just laugh it off."

But Lovely knew those were things you couldn't laugh off. Those little "pieces" were actually life itself. She had a sensation of holding a lantern to the dark surface of life and seeing revealed there its strange and secret depths.

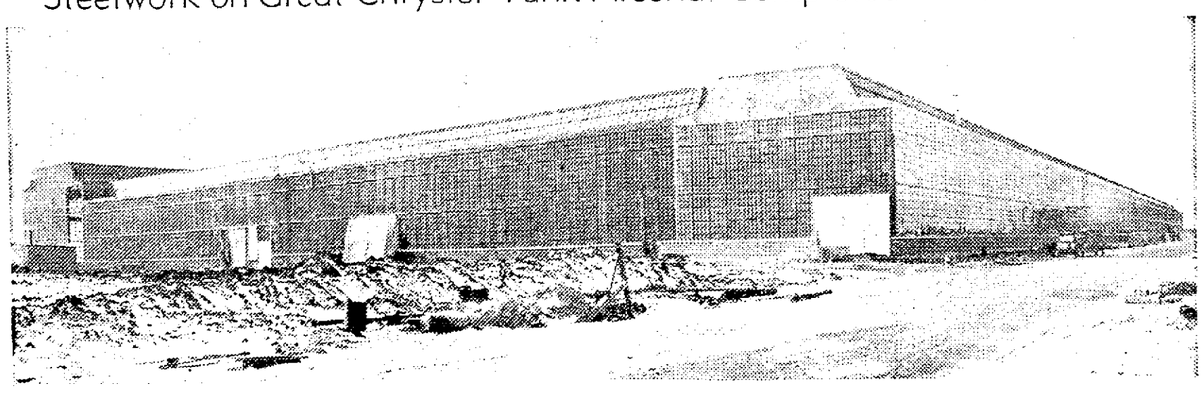
Steelwork on Great Chrysler Tank Arsenal Completed in Record Time



Despite sleet, snow, mud and rain, workmen on this huge Chrysler tank arsenal at Detroit have completed steel construction in record time of under 2½ months. The 700,000-square-foot building occupies space 1380 by 500 feet, equivalent of 3½ city blocks. More than 6500 tons of steel, in 20,000 separate pieces, were used in construction of plant, which will turn out tanks for U. S. Army.

BEWITCHING YOUNG PARTY FROCK

Pattern 4699

By ANNE ADAMS

This gay spring "date-dress" will spell enchantment to your best beau and be a bright spot at any gathering. It's soft and feminine and utterly charming, and you'll make it up without difficulty from simple Pattern 4699 by Anne Adams. That so smart long-waisted look is given by a low, double-pointed front waist-seam. And wonderfully soft, becoming bodice lines are created by gathers down the center button-trimmed seam. Though the edges of the neck and short sleeves may be straight-cut, scallops are gay and appealing. The slim skirt has just a single front panel for easy lines: a belt may go all around or come from the sides to tie in back. Do select one of those big flower prints for this charmer!

Pattern 4699 is available in misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 takes 3¼ yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

The NEW 1941 PATTERN BOOK by ANNE ADAMS is finished! So let Mr. Mailman bring the world of fashion to your doorstep! This colorful book brims over with easy-to-stitch outfits for every age; every hour. It shows original, distinctive designs in suits, ensembles, sportswear, afternoon and evening frocks and home styles. It brings news of fabrics and accessories. A valuable book to keep at home for easy reference, and its low cost is FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Second Try-Outs to Complete Cast for Studio Production

From seven until eight o'clock this evening, try-outs will again be held at the Woman's Club for the play to be given at the March studio meeting of the Warren Players. The play chosen, "A Woman's a Fool" by Dorothy Bennett and Link Hannah, is to be directed by Willis Johnston.

This modern comedy takes place in Bermuda, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Foster, and has nine good parts:

Eddie Sommers—A good-looking, Broadway type, man of the world.

Major—A middle aged colored man who has been Jeff Foster's dresser for years and is now the Fosters' houseman. He is slow moving, serious and dignified.

Jeff Foster—A fine looking man who has been a matinee idol. Jeff is an accomplished actor, not a "ham."

Lew Lerner—A New York theatrical producer. A highly nervous man, but he has an air of authority when his wife is not around.

Christine Foster—An intelligent woman in her thirties. She has a quiet manner, but is very mischievous at times.

Minerva Himmelman—A girl in her teens, small and lively. She is a typical autograph hound.

Nina Suffieva—A young Russian girl whose manner is extremely self-assured. She has a slight accent, but forgets to use it when she becomes excited.

Josie Lerner—A very smart woman, but a little cynical.

Rosemary Littleproud—A pretty and sweetly feminine young woman.

Copies of the play are available at the Public Library. Anyone interested in trying out for any of these parts is asked to be at the club this evening.

Box Office Opens For Coming Play "Ah, Wilderness!"

The box office for "Ah, Wilderness!", mid-winter public production of the Warren Players scheduled for February 13-14, will open tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock, close at eight in the evening and open again Monday morning at nine o'clock.

Tickets may be secured Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, from nine in the morning until eight in the evening. The sale of tickets on Friday, February 14, will be from the usual hour in the morning until 7:30 that evening.

The tickets for this production may be had by writing to the Warren Players, by telephone 776, or by calling in person at the Players' desk in the foyer of the Woman's Club at the hours specified.

The committee on reservations reminds members today that "it isn't a worm the early bird gets. It's a seat front and center".

Stone Class Is To Enjoy Banquet

The annual banquet of the May R. Stone Class of the First Presbyterian church will be held next Monday evening at the Woman's Club, it is announced today.

Dinner will be served at 6:15 o'clock, with Mrs. Warren Stone acting as toastmistress for the occasion.

After the dinner, Mrs. George Calderwood will show pictures taken on a trip to Alaska last summer.

Mrs. Wayne Helmbrecht is chairman of the committee in charge of this banquet and is being assisted by Mrs. R. W. Clark, Mrs. L. E. Seavy, Mrs. Victor Offerle and Mrs. Marion Keiser.

Capacity House for Murder Mystery Given As Mid-Winter Performance at St. Joseph's

The St. Joseph Players have a bill of genuine entertainment in their current public production, opened to a capacity house last evening and to be repeated at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the school auditorium.

The production is "Before Morning", mystery-drama in three acts from the collaborating pens of Edna and Edward P. Riley. When the action really gets under way about the middle of the first act, the audience is skillfully held in suspense until the dramatic showdown just a few minutes before the curtain falls on attractive Elsie Manning and her substantial, business man admirer from the midwest.

Lewis Critelli has turned in another creditable job in the coaching of a play which must progress swiftly and without a single hitch in the rapidly paced incidents that involve and threaten to ruin the principals. The play has some excellent lines and these are handled with a pleasing finesse by the cast, competent to the least important characterizations.

In the personnel are both veterans and newcomers to the St. Joseph's stage and if any major credit can be given an individual, the baffling role of Dr. Gruelle would be the writer's choice. Were it not for this characterization of a scheming, blackmailing doctor, much of the drama and, in the end, the real mystery would be lost. While the usual true and false scents are being run down, it is upon Dr. Gruelle that the audience must concentrate its full attention.

The cast, in order of appearance, is made up of the following: Jenny, Nancy Salerno; Doris, Margaret Hughes; Joyce, Victoria Nelson; Leo Bergman, Thomas Grace; Ben Ayoub, August Bova; Elsie Manning, Mary Ruth Gerrety; Horace Barker, John Maleno; Neil Kennedy, Charles Robison; James E. Nichols, Ray Weigel; Dr. Gruelle, Mac Corah; twin brother to Nichols, Ray Weigel; Donovan and O'Sullivan, A. E. Guiffre and T. J. Scalise.

An attractive set has been designed as the scene of the action, the work of T. J. Scalise and James Gorfido.

Those who did not attend last night's performance may see the second and last show tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

PUTTING THE INDIAN SIGN ON SMART SPRING FASHIONS

ORIGINAL and completely American are the trimmings that Picard, famous designer, used on a collection of dresses that were part of an exhibit sponsored by the Indian Arts and Crafts Board at New York's Museum of Modern Art.

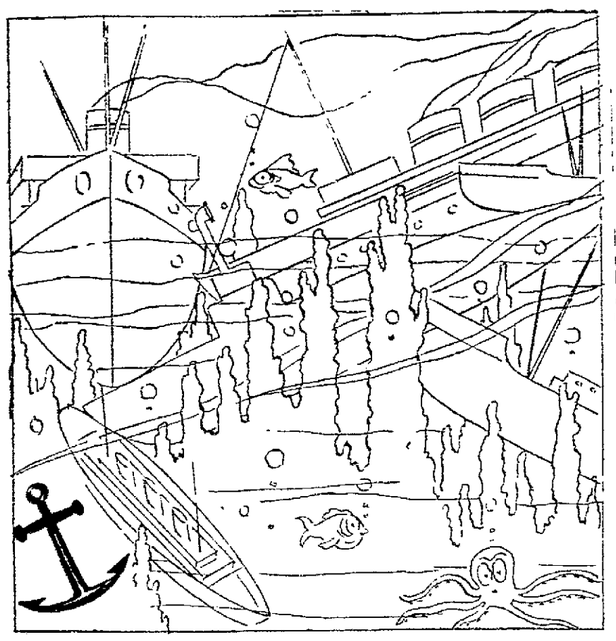
Boys And Girls Have Opportunity to Win Theatre Tickets In Interesting Contest



Name .....Age.....

Address .....

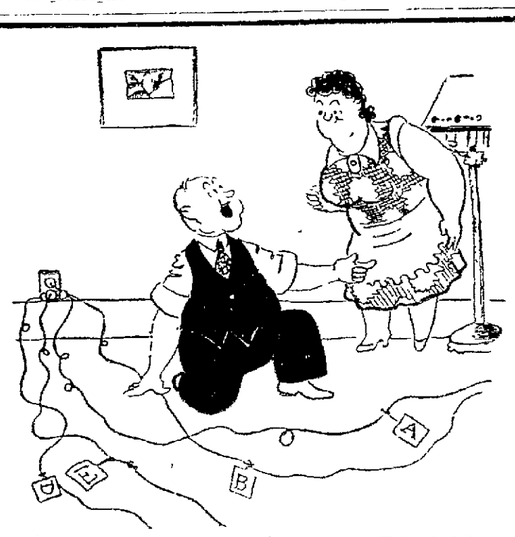
In connection with the showing of the film, "Phantom Submarine," which appears at the Columbia theatre on Saturday and Sunday, a contest is being conducted in which boys and girls of Warren can obtain free tickets to that theatre.

Above is a drawing of undersea life. Somewhere in the drawing is the "Phantom Submarine." All you need to do is outline the submarine and bring or mail your drawing, together with your name and address to the Puzzle Editor, Times-Mirror.

The first 10 boys or girls submitting the correct answer will receive a pair of tickets to the Columbia theatre The contest winners will be announced in Monday's paper.

LaFollette Attacks British Aid Bill

Former Governor Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin, pictured above as he testified before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, charged that the administration's lend-lease British aid bill would vest in the President alone "the decision over peace or war."



"NOW THEY WON'T GET BALLED UP. A-IS FOR THE TABLE LAMP B-IS THE RADIO. C-IS THE REFRIGERATOR..."

Modern science makes available to every home a host of helpers at the click of a switch. But remember—these modern electrical servants work at full efficiency when your home is adequately wired. Adequate wiring delivers all the power you need without wasting any. And it provides an adequate number of outlets for all lamps and appliances, and for good lighting — with enough switches properly located so that you need not take one step into a dark room, hall or stairway. Adequate wiring serves and saves. Consult your Electrical Contractor today.

OBITUARY

MRS. ANNIE M. WATSON

Mrs. Annie M. Kinch Watson, widow of Harvey Watson, of Kellettville, died at 9:30 o'clock Thursday evening following an illness of several years.

Mrs. Watson was born at Strobleton, Clarion county, January 11, 1865, a daughter of the late Daniel and Mattie Kapp Kinch. She was united in marriage with Harvey Watson in Tionesta on October 1, 1888. Her husband passed away about a year ago. For the past 35 years she had made her home in Kellettville. She was a member of the Kellettville Methodist church and was highly esteemed in the community.

Surviving are the following children: Mrs. Lena Slocum, Kellettville; Mrs. Lillian Jones, Warren; Clark Watson, Three Sands, Okla.; Howard Watson, Tiona; Charles Watson, St. Marys; Herbert Watson, Glendale, Calif., and Myron Watson, Youngsville. She also leaves two brothers, Wesley Kinch, of Corry, and Isaac Kinch, of Chula Vista, Calif., and two sisters, Mrs. Solomon Frank, of Seneca, and Mrs. Frank Mealy, of Frill's Corners.

Removal was made to the Haslet Funeral Home in Tionesta. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday from the home of a sister-in-law, the late Mrs. Rebecca Spangler, in Kellettville. The Rev. C. L. Hayes, pastor of the Tionesta Methodist church, will officiate and interment will be in the cemetery at Barnes.

DAVID A. MALONE

Sheffield, Feb. 7—David Aloysius Malone, 18, a patient in the sanitarium at Cresson since last June, died there at 10:30 Thursday morning.

Born in Sheffield on July 17, 1922, the young man attended local grade schools and was in his senior year at the high school when ill health forced his withdrawal. He was admitted to the sanitarium June 27 last year.

The youth is survived by his mother, Mrs. Florence Malone, of Warren, and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. G. L. Tome, Arlene and Charles, of Warren; Erma, a student nurse at Magee Hospital, Pittsburgh; W. Bendell, of Sheffield. His father, John Malone, preceded him in death four years ago.

The remains were brought to the Borden funeral home here to be prepared for burial. Funeral plans are incomplete.

"Hunt the Slipper"

Angela Adams had to have a pair of silver slippers for a party. She wanted low heels, loads of style, size 7 AAA . . . and she didn't want to pay more than ten dollars.

Angela Adams went down town to "look." She dashed here and she dashed there. She stuffed her protesting feet into seventeen pairs of silver slippers. Some were too high at the heel, some were too expensive . . . few of them fit. Finally, in desperation, she took a pair of gold ones, with high heels, size 7 AA.

Angela Adams had a horrid time at the party. She was too tired to be gay. She couldn't dance because her feet were killing her. She retired to the dressing-room, and took off the offending shoes. A sympathetic maid gave her a paper to read.

Angela Adams dropped to the floor with a low moan . . . the paper spread open to an advertisement which read:

SILVER SANDALS for a PARTY GIRL Flat-heeled, new as new, in a whole range of normal, and out-sizes. And only $9.75!

Moral: Do your slipper-hunting in these columns. Excellent, too, for ice-boxes . . . hats . . . stockings . . . dust-pans . . . and all the best values in everything!

Hollywood Sights & Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Charles Friedman, I was told, has one of Hollywood's unique jobs: he's an "idea man."

I hurried over. It was the first time it had occurred to me that having ideas might be a special job in pictures—but then this is Hollywood and we have to take it as it comes.

Mr. Friedman, for his part, came out of conference to tell about his work. Mr. Friedman is tall, lean, somehow ascetic in effect, dresses with New York neatness combined with a Hollywood abandon for color—although that particular necktie may have been a Christmas gift. His spectacles make him seem older than his likely indefinite thirties.

You would know him, if you follow the theater, as a name from the garment workers' union revue, "Pins and Needles." As he is collecting director's and author's royalties from a probable $1,500,000 gross on a $4,000 cost, you understand why Hollywood would be interested. After "Pins" came "Sing Out the News." It was Louis B. Mayer who first sirened him to the movies.

* * *

HIS stay at M-G-M was not a happy one. He never saw Louis B. (who was ill) and as he was supposed to work with Louis B. he never worked at all. He went back to New York. His return, to 20th Century-Fox, found him doubtful but still eager—especially to work with Zanuck. His first day at the studio saw him greeted, established in an office and assured that he would see Zanuck—"it might be four weeks, maybe even eight weeks," they cautioned. But that very evening he was bidden to a Zanuck conference—beginning at 11 p. m. and lasting until 4 a. m.—and he felt himself actually in the business.

The "idea" angle comes from his experience in musicals and as a veteran director on the "bortsch circuit"—eastern summer camps.

On "The Road to Rio" they were stuck for an opening, establishing scene, having already used, in "Down Argentine Way," panoramic shots of showplaces. Had it been pre-war Paris, they could have hauled out the Eiffel Tower again. But it wasn't. Friedman's idea was a sophisticated nightclub interior, affording a background view of the famed Rio harbor at night.

* * *

THEN he whipped up a story-advancing musical idea—"The Baron Is in Conference." Not just a song for song's sake, but a sequence which in music explains what sort of fellow the baron (Don Ameche) really is. Part of the plot.

Friedman is around the sets a great deal, thinking up ideas and studying how it's all done. He expects to be a director himself some day, and he thinks (he says) he'll be a good one. He is seriously confident on this score, and he has a right to be: pleasing the patrons of the "bortsch circuit," an ever-shifting population, is exacting business.

He hooked on to "Pins and Needles," he says, by reason of his "bortsch circuit" training. It pays a good social director enough in the summer to keep him the rest of the year. In the winter he went to New York. The union, looking for a man, wanted experience and the willingness to take $40 a week. Friedman had both.

So he proceeded to be the Zanuck of that show, worked it over with Harold Rome, a former pianist at one of the camps, and went on to glory.

42,000th Hospital Plan Patient Is A Resident of Warren

The 42,000th patient to be hospitalized by the non-profit group hospitalization plan was a Warren resident, Mrs. Ethel Tate, of 1209½ Pennsylvania avenue, east. Mrs. Tate recently entered the Warren General Hospital for maternity care. She is the wife of Paul E. Tate, a lineman for the Bell Telephone Company who signed up as a member of the project when a group was formed at his place of employment.

Mr. and Mrs. Tate became the parents of a baby boy on January 25th.

The Hospital Service Association, which is the medium through which the hospitals participate in the plan, has been acquiring hospitalization patients rapidly recently. This has resulted from the vast increase in membership which now exceeds 300,000. Twenty-one days of hospital care per contract year are available to each person hospitalized under the plan.

Russell

Mrs. Lillian Sherard entertained at a variety shower at the home of T. E. Peterson Saturday evening in honor of her sister, Mrs. Robert Curtin, of Niagara Falls. Twenty-five relatives and friends from Jamestown, Frewsburg, Warren, Clarendon and Russell were present. Games and contests were enjoyed after which a delicious luncheon was served. Mrs. Curtin was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

SCHOOL BOARD HOLDS MEETING AT RUSSELL HI

Youngsville, Feb. 6—At the meeting of the Youngsville school board held this week a number of coming school activities received the approval of the board. The first of these was a series of adult evening classes under the direction of Vocational Agricultural Supervisor Robert Albright open at 7:30 p. m. this evening. These will be discussion classes open to those interested and will consider farm mechanics. They will include painting, staining and finishing; glazing, soldering, water supply systems, sewage and disposal system, heating system, lighting system; selecting home appliances, care and repair of home conveniences.

The music department of the school reported plans for an Easter concert by a capella choir, with propram of sacred music on a Sunday afternoon, probably Palm Sunday. It was also announced that an invitation had been extended to the Northwestern District of P. S E. A. to bring the choral festival to Youngsville next year.

The board approved of the national defense program for out of school rural youth. Most of the training for these classes will be between 6 and 10 p. m. The more intensive courses will require a minimum of fifteen hours a week. The purpose is to give young men an opportunity to fit themselves for possible employment in connection with the national defense program whether it be in the rank of industry or army or navy. This will include youth from 17 to 25 years of age. Supervising Principal Paul Getts has blanks for those interested in these courses.

ROTARY MEETING

The Rotary Club, at this week's dinner meeting, enjoyed a talk by Howard Kay. Mr. Kay described conditions in Italy a few years ago when he visited that country. He described such interesting cities as Rome, Florence and Venice.

Announcement was made that the ladies would be guests of the club at a dinner at Pittsfield Inn on Tuesday evening, Feb. 18

COUNCIL MEET

The February meeting of the Youngsville council was held Feb. 3rd with Frank Falconer presiding in the absence of the president, Elton Barton.

Aside from the regular business an ordinance accepting Second street extension and College street extension, and also an amendment to the sewer disposal ordinance was passed and approved.

Some other matters came up for discussion but no action was taken.

ORANGE CIRCLE

Mrs. George Schmidt was hostess to the Orange Circle Wednesday afternoon. A short talk on the over seas relief work and the work of the church in the military camps was given by the pastor Rev. Dwight Jack. An offering was made by the Circle for this work.

Contests and games appropriate to February were enjoyed followed by a bountiful co-operative dinner. Mrs. Zehff will be the March hostess.

LOCALS

The Youngsville Townsend Club will hold their regular meeting Friday night at 7:30 in the Townsend Hall.

The annual Father and Son banquet is being held at 6 p. m. Saturday of this week in the United Brethren church.

A pleasant meeting of the Red Circle was held Wednesday at the home of Miss Ruby Bancock. Rev. Mr. Jack gave a talk on over sea relief work and an offering for this work was contributed. A dainty luncheon was served by the committee.

The dinner meeting of the Methodist Society of Christian Service will be held at 6:30 p. m. Friday. Features of the program will be talks on current topics by a number of the men guests. All men of the church are invited. Rev. Mr. Jack will speak and read a recent letter from China a A quiz of the radio style is to be featured and the mite box opening held.

The many friends of Rev. Wallace Johnson, will be pleased to know that he is convalescing from his recent illness and is now at his home in Chandlers Valley. Rev. Mr. Farb of Oil City, vice pastor of the local Lutheran church, who has had charge of the services during the pastor's illness will be here next Sunday and will preach in the Youngsville Saron Lutheran church at 2 p. m. He also presided at the annual business meeting held on Feb. 4th.

"BUGGY" AIR

According to airplane tests made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, about 25,000,000 insects occupy the air above each square mile of the earth's surface.

Approximately 11,000,000 Christmas trees were used in the United States in the 1940 Christmas season.

The words "czar" and "kaiser" both are derived from the Latin Caesar.

SUPERINTENDENT FOR HOSPITAL HERE IS NAMED

Appointment of Edith Atkin, R. N., of Amsterdam, N. Y., as superintendent of the Warren General Hospital was announced today by members of the board of directors. Miss Akin, who also will fill the positions of directress of the nurses' training school and directress of nursing at the local hospital, will assume her duties about February 15, it was stated.

Miss Atkin has been superintendent and administrator of the Amsterdam Hospital at Amsterdam, N. Y., for the past 17 years.

She is a former member of the New York State Board of Regents. She has been very active in Red Cross work and for the past six months has been co-chairman of the Red Cross National Defense Inventory Council in New York state.

HOPPE RALLIES TO TAKE TENTH STRAIGHT MATCH

Chicago, Feb. 7—(AP)—Willie Hoppe is finding it increasingly difficult to maintain his undefeated standing in the world's three cushion billiard tournament.

Another sell-out crowd last night cheered on Joe Chamaco, the bounding cue expert from Mexico who the night before had dropped Jay Bozeman from the unbeaten ranks. The 1939 tournament winner responded with a dazzling demonstration that at one time gave him a 38 to 26 lead.

Thereafter a barrage of difficult leaves by Hoppe broke his stride and the defending champion closed the gap to win, 50 to 47, in 54 innings. Chamaco got only three billiards in his last 16 tries.

The victory was Hoppe's 10th in the current tournament and his 82nd straight in his last three world meets. Tonight he takes on Art Thurnblad, former title holder, from Kenosha, Wis.

Assistant District Attorney Walter Stanton said Tannenbaum was known as a "loan shark," and that his police record showed arrests on various charges of which he was later freed.

The Heitners said they had asked Tannenbaum to mind the baby while they attended a "shower". They said he had lived with them from time to time and had done accounting work for Heitner, part owner and agent for the six-story apartment house where he lives.

Police said Heitner told them he hadn't known the revolvers were in the apartment.

"they're all right." They came a month prematurely.

Immediately placed in separate incubators and attended constantly by shifts of two nurses who fed them by bottle, the babies cried lustily. "Listen to them—they're healthy enough," said one nurse.

Since last Dec. 3, when Mrs. Brown entered the hospital, she and her physician, Dr. J. F. Hanna, had known through x-rays the possibility she would bear quadruplets—a once in the millions birth.

Dr. Hanna was surprised at the weights. The girl, first born, was 4 pounds, 10 ounces, and the boys, in order of birth, were 4 pounds, 10 ounces, 4 pounds, 9 ounces, and 3 pounds, 12 ounces. Twins frequently weigh less, said Dr. Hanna.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS SPEAKER DISCUSS EUROPE

An audience of approximately 400 persons attended last night's lecture in the high school auditorium, when the Warren Rotary Club presented Dr. Nicholas R. Doman as its third "Institute of Understanding" speaker.

Attorney S. D. Blackman introduced the speaker and, at the conclusion of the address, supervised the discussion period.

Dr. Doman, who is giving up his native allegiance to Hungary to become an American citizen, has served in the Hungarian army ranks and has traveled extensively in European countries. He is considered an authority on affairs of central Europe and declines to prophesy the ultimate outcome of the current situation.

He does believe, however, that the end of this war will find either complete totalitarianism or decisive democracy. Asserting a strong personal preference for the latter, he stated that it is still too early to guess the end of a conflict which will not be amenable to a negotiated peace.

Whichever side wins, Dr. Doman feels, "Europe will emerge an united Europe. United, if Germany wins, as a series of concentration camps under rule of Berlin and the German army. United, if Britain wins, as a democratic federation with law and order maintained under an international rather than national government and armed forces."

Confirming opinions of other authorities recently in the news, Dr. Doman pointed out that Germany has already invaded South America economically and asserted that the Nazis will, if victorious over England, gain a complete foothold on the southern continent unless the United States wants to fight a war, "War for the United States is inevitable if Britain loses", he said, "unless this country chooses to submit to the dictates of the Nazis".

Dr. Doman declared that neither Hitler nor any other individual is responsible for this war, and this crisis. He believes that the blame is chiefly due to the fact that physical science in the past century or so has caught up with and surpassed social science, creating a lack of balance which has left the world not materially but morally impoverished. Economic and social inequalities have resulted and are, together with physical science's marriage to militarism, mainly responsible for the conflict.

The speaker concluded by saying that there is no reason to hope the present war will be the last, "unless we construct a political structure that fits into economical reality".

Fourth and last in the series of the Rotary-sponsored addresses will be that of Dr. John A. Morrison, scheduled for next Thursday evening at eight o'clock.

mento last month from Alaska, and planned to proceed to Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, before returning to the territory.

The last report from the plane was heard at 9:30 o'clock, and news of the crash came soon after eyewitnesses raced to telephones to notify authorities.

Lloyd M. Carpenter, foreman of the Lowery Wells CCC camp, 19 miles west of here, saw the plane plough into the mountain, shortly after hearing it among the clouds.

Paul Lykins, Reno, Nev., traveling man, disclosed that if the plane had cleared the mountain and was disabled, a dry lake five miles from the crash scene would have acted as an excellent emergency landing field.

Witnesses said there was no storm in the area, though the sky was overcast and there had been light showers.

The bodies were burned beyond recognition.

Besides Captain Freeman, winner of the Mackay trophy in 1940 for outstanding aircraft engineering on the 1939 good will flight of six bombers to Rio De Janeiro, the other victims were First Lieut. E. W. Ketchum, co-pilot, and Staff Sgt. Everett Crabb, addresses unknown, and:

Test Sgt. K. H. Gilreath, 39, Clinchport, Va.; Sgt. Joseph P. Davies, 31, Dayton, Ohio; Sgt. E. S. Trainer, 33, San Jose Calif.; Sgt. F. S. Whidden, 23, Haines, Fla., and Pvt. C. Applegate, 20, Canon City, Colo.

The heavy guard around the plane was ordered immediately after the crash in order that nothing could be moved pending the board's probe. If the secret bombsight had been aboard the bomber it was entirely consumed by the flames, army officers said.

Soose And Ernie Vigh Clash For Right To Meet Overlin

Nittany Alumnus Is 5 To 8 Favorite To Eliminate Larruper

New York, Feb. 7—(AP)—Ernie Vigh and Billy Soose, a couple of young fighting fellows trying to get along, tangle in Madison Square Garden tonight to see who has been wrong for the last couple of years.

Each has been hanging along the middleweight trail for about two and a half years. Tonight whoever can knock the other fellow's ears down gets a shot at Ken Overlin's world championship in March.

The betting odds and a lot of other things, including his press clippings, favor Billy, the glamour boy from Penn State College. But Ernie, a serious young guy with a cement chin, has a very handy equalizer. He can knock out anyone he can hit on the chin with either hand, at that.

As a result, this corner goes against the handwriting and picks Vigh to take care of Billy in the approved style, despite the ballyhoo which has attended the binky Farrell, Pa., boxing specialist since he outpointed both Overlin and the National Boxing Association's titleholder, Tony Zale, last year. At the moment, Soose is 5 to 8 to whip the Newburg, N. Y., slugger and the odds-makers will lay you 5 to 1 Vigh can't knock out his man.

Action in the "divest" division in boxing today, the middleweights, promises to bring some 12,000 customers into the Garden and some $25,000 or $30,000 into Promoter Mike Jacobs' strong boxes.

Several angles make tonight's tea party a particularly fancy affair to the fellows "in the know" along Sock Street.

In the first place Overlin, recognized as champion in New York, Pennsylvania, California and several other spots, insists he was robbed when Soose was awarded a decision over him in Scranton last summer. So if Billy should whip Vigh, Ken is planning revenge where it'll hurt Soose most in the pocketbook.

"If Soose wants to fight me," Overlin said today, "and he gets by Vigh, I'll take him on for all the percentage. I'll have my manager, Chris Dundee, ask for 50 per cent of the net gate."

Those conditions would leave Soose about 15 cents and half a dozen unsold hotdogs from the Garden nourishment stands.

Sports Round-up

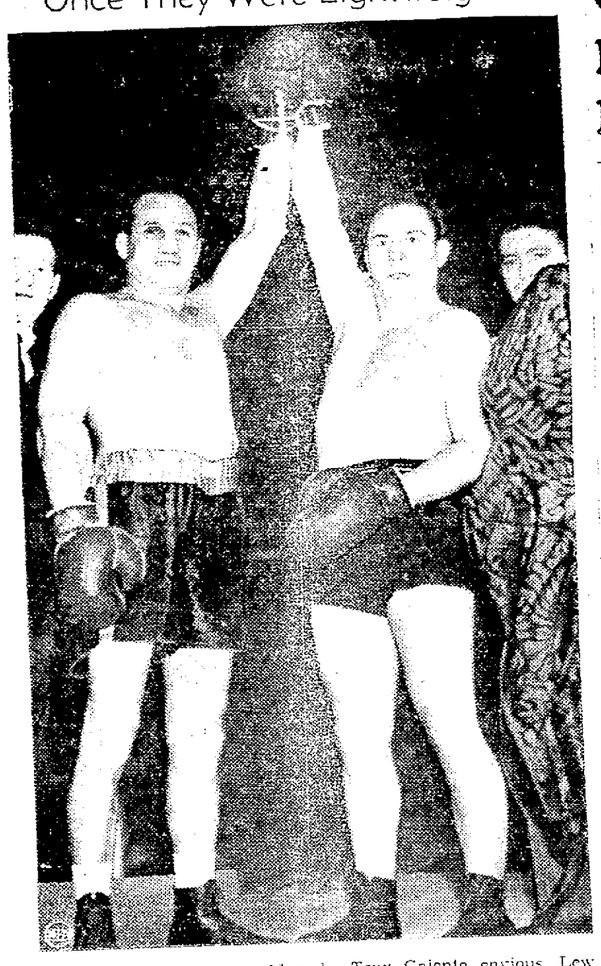
Tests reveal that while a car can stop in 43 feet on dry concrete while traveling at 20 miles an hour, on glare ice with no chains or sand, a distance of 191 feet is required.

Once They Were Lightweights



Sporting tummies that would make Tony Galento envious, Lew Tendler, left, and Benny Leonard declare each other the winner after exhibition that was added attraction to finals of amateur tournament in Philadelphia. Tendler failed to lift championship from Leonard in matches that drew record gates for lightweights in 1922 and '23.

SPORT SPATTERINGS by BILL RICE

About all we seemed to have developed by last night's delving into the basketball record book was a lot of additional work. Hardly had the readers' curiosity regarding the highest score ever registered by the Dragons been satisfied than we received queries about the most points racked up by an individual cager. We were and are pretty sure that when Dick Schumacher hit the net 22 times against Johnsonburg on January 3, 1925 he had broken the existing high mark and set a record that would be unmolested for many years. Running through the accounts of other top-heavy games, the nearest score we could find to Schuie's total was 36 points caged by Harry "Jap" Conroy, Sr., on January 19, 1918 in that 105-30 drubbing of Titusville. "Al" Wolfe got 28 the night in January of 1923 when the Dragons tripped Ludlow, 96 to 14. "Jap" Conroy, Jr.'s 24 points against Youngsville last Tuesday is probably the highest since Wolfe wore out the net. If there are other comparable performances we should be glad to hear of them. An unusual feature of this quartet of scores is that none of the totals includes a single foul shot.

Don't think for a second that the Koch's-Texas Lunch team is abandoning its Inter-City Bowling League title without an argument. Cal Bedeaux's figures as of last Tuesday show the local keglers just four games behind the Zippo Lighters who are holding down first place and who have rolled four more games than the locals. And the Texas crew is only seven percentage points behind the Bradford Lafayette Inn team which holds down the second slot and which has also rolled four more games than has our side. Pete Juliano is still the only Warren kegler up among the leaders. Pete is in seventh place with an average of 190.4. At this writing the Marconi Club is in eighth place, two games out of seventh.

Although a non-title bout, tonight's go between Billy Soose and Ernie Vigh in Madison Square Garden will attract plenty of attention from boxfighting followers, for the winner has been promised a shot at Ken Overlin who holds the New York and California versions of the middleweight toga. That the boys are evenly matched is proved by their records. Each has lost four decisions since he started eating with his fists; each has been defeated by George Adams, rugged Washington, D. C., leather-slinger, and if you're race-conscious, each is Hungarian. What effect the latter will have on the fight is difficult to forecast. Soose and Vigh fought on the same card in Madison Square Garden, the Farrell boy decisioning Tami Muriello and Vigh outpointing Cole Welch. Ernie has the edge in punching ability while the former Nittany Lion sharpshooter is the superior boxer. Let's not forget that Soose holds decisions over Champions Zale and Overlin, and on that basis this corner nods toward the Pennsylvanian.

YEARS AGO IN SPORT

February 7, 1921—Al Wolfe caged 16 points and the Warren High School basketeers defeated Ludlow Saturday night on the latter court, 26 to 21. Howard Potts and Lloyd Woodard each got two field goals and Dick Elliott one.

February 7, 1931—Johnny Layton, ex-cue champion was at the Elks last night and gave one of the most enjoyable exhibitions ever seen here. Layton was played to a standstill at three-cushion billiards by Pike Peterson, but when Johnny took on Bill Cosmano on the pool table the expert ran 50 so quickly they could hardly be counted. An exhibition of trick shots followed.

The Kirbergers continued on their merry way in the Elks Loyal Knight division last evening by tripping the Times-Mirror for three, but the New Process gained a little with a four-pointer over Harvey and Carey to share second place, not farther behind than the distance from New York to Frisco. . . . Beckleys fell to fourth and the Hultman Tailors took over third position by virtue of a forfeit presented to them by the Darling Jewelers. . . . Cochrans' Barbers took three from Beckleys and moved nearer a playoff berth (There goes our buck!). . . Johnny Waples slammed out a 223 game, but "Buzz" Kyler's 597 knocked off the high total mark for the evening.

Not content with shoving Olson & Bjers farther down into second place in the Commercial circuit, the Rich Atlantic Station also topped two marks, previously held by the losers. . . . In chalking up three points the White Flashers topped the former mark of 950 by rolling 955 in their first game for a new high total of 2733. . . . The O. K. Service Station displaced the County News as third place team by topping the National Forge in a three-pointer while the News was losing the same number to the West Ridge. . . . The Sherwood Refinery and Newell Press were idle. . . . Cooper, an old hand at collecting, collected 242 on high game and Bob Check hit 587 for best block of three.

Colts Annex Second Round of "B" Loop; Defeat Hi-Y 44-33

The second round of the two Y. M. C. A. basketball loops came to a close last night, with the "Y" Colts winning a berth in the Class "B" playoffs by topping the Hi-Y, 44-33.

The Rocks walked all over the Phalanx, 76 to 47, in the "A" encounter, but the Penn Merchants had again sewed up the round.

"Tink" Wolfe and Bill Mulvey, with 25 and 22 points apiece, led the Rocks to the win, while Paul Rapin, stellar ex-high hoopster, netted 25 for the losers and Miller came through with 16 in the high scoring battle.

Ray Moll was again the sparkplug for the Colts, chalking up 18 points. Anderson and Graham got eight apiece for the Hi-Y.

The third rounds started Monday night with the Penn Merchants meeting the Phalanx in the prelim to the Patterson- Oil City game.

BLUE AND WHITE QUINTET STARTS PENNANT DRIVE

Coach "Heinie" Kolpien's Blue and White cagers will make another bid for the title which they held last year when they start the second half of the Northern League chase tonight at Beaty court.

Their first opposition is the Ridgway Elks whom they topped 28-16 at Ridgway at their last meeting. The locals are heavy favorites to repeat their earlier conquest, and tonights game will give the varsity valuable drill time in preparation for the all-important clash with the first half champs at Bradford next Tuesday night.

Kolpien will probably start the usual combination of Harry "Jap" Conroy, the section's leading scorer, and Johnny Pick at the forwards, Chuck Hoffecker at center and Bob "Sling" Brown and Dick Tucker at guards.

The first game will get underway at 6:30 with Coach Leidig's Thirds again meeting Coach Homer Fleming's Beaty team. At 7:30 the Timmons-coached Ridgway Seconds will clash with the Dragon yannigans.

Leo Rossetti, of Sheffield, will referee the main tilt.

Athletics Off For California Camp; Mack Optimistic

Philadelphia, Feb. 7—(AP)—Led by veteran Manager Connie Mack, a vanguard of Philadelphia Athletics is enroute to California today and their annual baseball training camp.

Before pushing off last night Mack said the 1941 prospects for the American League club "all depend on the pitchers."

E. Wolfe	G	Bierbach
Zerbe	G	Rhoades

The Pattersons will provide tonight's semi-pro attraction at the "Y" court when they meet the Franklin Chicago Pneumatic Tool team at nine o'clock.

The Franklin quint already has scored a win over the locals and the following fast combines, Butler Cubs, Jamestown Moose, Clarion State Teachers and the Sharon Field Club. Fifteen victories against five defeats are recorded on the season's books. For the past four years the C. P. T. has been Venango county champion and has held the city title for five straight seasons.

Included on the roster are Mason, towering center, and Berbach, former Thiel College star, both of whom are listed in the starting lineup.

Manager "Tink" Collins will again have his best team in action. Gerry Peterson is scheduled to officiate in the main game, which will be preceded by a preliminary between two fast clubs.

HOG WEIGHTS

A weight of 250 pounds is considered the most desirable weight for hogs at market. Selected light hogs, weighing from 155 to 195 pounds, are considered bacon hogs.

Four High School Mentors Will Aid New Buckeye Coach

Columbus, O., Feb. 7—(AP)—Four high school men were among seven assistants hired by Ohio State University today to aid Coach Paul Brown, who three weeks ago jumped from a scholastic position to the collegiate big time.

Three of them were Brown's chief assistants at Massillon High School, where championship teams won him a reputation as a "miracle mentor."

LOTS OF WORK

Three women were required to do the work connected with just one Indian tepee, so it was customary among the Blackfeet tribe to take more than one wife.

DOG RESCUED

removed from the snow-blanketed Bush country and placed aboard a special train here.

Aerial searchers first spotted the plane wreckage hours after the last message from Captain Twiss at 4.47 a. m. (E. S. T.) which said the plane would land. Snow had fallen all night and visibility was limited to one mile.

The big plane plowed an 800-foot pathway through the trees, clipping off the tops. A big spruce tree was thrust through the cabin. The bodies were found huddled together, surrounded by pieces of the plane. There was no fire. Physicians said they believed all aboard had been killed instantly.

World War, gives the navy officers from the present class 3½ years training instead of the customary four.

In addition, it makes room at Annapolis for about 700 naval reserve midshipmen of the V 7 class who are scheduled to begin a three months' course there later this month. Upon successful completion of the three-month course, these midshipmen will be given commissions in the naval reserve. The next regular class at Annapolis will start in July. If an emergency develops it is possible that it will be graduated in three years.

MANUSH QUALIFIES LOWEST IN TOURNEY

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 7—(AP)—If Heinie Manush's sacro-iliac will only behave itself for the next three days, the once great outfielder is going to be a hard man to lick in the ball players' golf championship, which goes into the match play stage today at the Jungle Club.

Heinie, a left hander on the links as he was at the plate, shot really fine golf yesterday in posting his medal winning score of 72-73—145 in the qualifying round. He not only conquered a daylong rain, which sent scores kiting, but refused to give in to back pain that sent him to a doctor at noon

In reply to a question from Senator Nye (R-ND), Williams said that, like Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh who testified yesterday, he did not believe Great Britain could win the war.

SPEED UP DELIVERIES

Washington, Feb. 7—(AP)—Secretary Stimson informed the senate foreign relations committee by letter today that the War Department expected "accelerated deliveries" to the army air corps of the latest type of combat planes "within four to six months."

Stimson's letter went into the record only after Senators Gillette (D-Iowa), Johnson (R-Calif) and Clark (D-Mo) had protested that the secretary was being permitted to make an additional statement without subjecting himself to cross-examination.

While the committee heard Williams, the House was assembling to act on a final batch of amendment proposals, with all signs pointing to a roll call on passage of the British aid bill by mid-evening. Administration leaders foresaw victory by a goodly margin.

One of the pending House proposals is for imposition of a $7,000,000,000 "ceiling" on the cost of the program, and this issue is expected to provide one of the warmest battles.

Williams was unsparing in his criticism both of the administration's British aid policy to date and of the powers proposed in the bill.

He ridiculed talk of invasion dangers as "nonsense," "horror stories," and "persistent promotion of hysteria by both the administration and several powerful groups in this country."

The proposal for a $7,000,000,000 "ceiling" in the House version of the British aid bill was advanced by Rep. Wadsworth, influential New York Republican who has warmly endorsed the objectives of the lend-lease legislation, and hence the suggestion commanded much attention among party colleagues.

Administration leaders, making no secret of their opposition to any such dollars-and-cents limitation, were ready for a finish fight on the issue.

Everything indicated that the vote would be reached today. The least optimistic estimate was that it would come between 8 and 9 p. m. (EST), and many expected it much sooner.

Under Attorney General Claude T. Reno's recent opinion, these men are entitled to half their state pay, up to a maximum of $2,000 a year, plus their army pay.

They will be reemployed by the state when their service period ends.

Governor James indicated General Martin might have to resign from the cabinet because of his duties with the guard but the final decision has not been reached.

On other capital fronts:

The Department of Labor and Industry reported Pennsylvania started 1941 with 3,417,000 employed persons, 225,000 more than January, 1940. December alone had an increase of 48,000.

The Pennsylvania State Association of School Directors met for their annual convention, hearing the reports of the president and secretary. The State Association of School Board Secretaries yesterday took a stand against further tax abatement.

The state Chamber of Commerce asked Pennsylvanians in congress to support amendments to the aid to Britain bill, limiting the funds and the effective date of the act and "keeping inviolate discretion of congress in respect to war."

A sliding scale system of figuring electric rates was proposed by Public Utility Commissioner Richard J. Beamish for the Associated Gas and Electric Company and the Edison Light and Power Company of York.

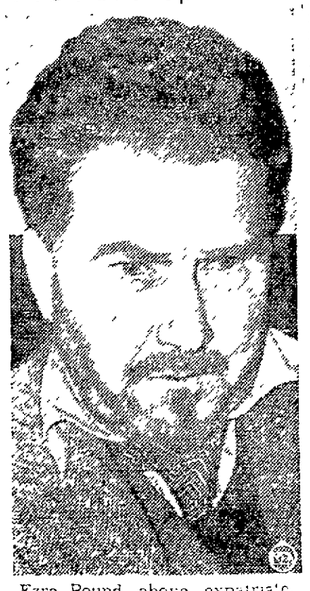
U. S. Poet Makes Pro-Axis Speech



Ezra Pound, above, expatriate, pro-Fascist, American-born poet, is reported to have broadcast speeches over the Rome radio praising U. S. isolationists and blasting American aid to Britain. The bearded poet, now 55, has not been in his native country, except for brief visits, since he was 22.

LOWER PRICES RULE MARKET

New York, Feb. 7—(AP)—Lower prices ruled in the stock market today with dealings the slowest in several months.

Declines of fractions to a point or so were posted for leading steels, rails, motors and specialties in the forenoon. There was a moderate come-back after mid-day, however, and extreme recessions were reduced or cancelled in some cases near the final hour. Transfers were at the rate of about 350,000 shares.

SHEFFIELD POST PLANNING VISIT OF STATE HEAD

Sheffield, Feb. 6 At a regular meeting this week of Frank M. Glendenning Post, American Legion, plans were furthered for the coming visit of Department Commander Charles S. Cook, scheduled to be here the afternoon and evening of Feb. 20.

Commander Cook, who comes highly recommended as a public speaker, will be the principal speaker that evening in the high school auditorium where a public meeting will be held with all surrounding Legion posts invited and a cordial welcome extended to the public. Among other invited guests are District Commander Maurice MacDonald, of Ridgway; Robert Russell, of Custer City, Grand Chief De Train, 40 and 8, and district and department officials of the Legion Auxiliary.

National Defense also came in for considerable discussion at the post's meeting this week and in connection therewith, Ruland Russ, commander of the local post, has issued the following statement:

"In line with the national defense program now under way, the national organization of the American Legion has pledged the support of all Legionaires to the U. S. government. The task of taking inventory of the talents of the organization will be undertaken during this month. Questionnaires will be in the hands of post adjutants probably not later than the 10th. Just what questions will be asked is not known at present, but questions regarding military experience, education, trades and professions will be most important.

"By proclamation, Comanmder Cook has set Feb. 22 as registration day for the Department of Pennsylvania. While this is not compulsory, it is the earnest desire of both National and Department organizations that every ex-service man, whether he is a member of the Legion or not, fill out one of these questionnaires and file it with the post adjutant as a patriotic duty."

PASTOR THE SPEAKER

Rev. Ivan Rossell, pastor of the Methodist church, was the speaker at this week's meeting of the Rotary Club, held Tuesday in Bob's restaurant. His subject was: "The Bible".

Elwood Kinney, local high school student, and A. Walsh, of Buffalo, were guests at the luncheon.

CHIMNEY FIRE

The fire department, last called to a fire 64 days ago, was summoned to the Harry Anderson home, Dunham street, about 11:35 Wednesday morning to combat a chimney fire. Fifteen men responded to the call and emained on the scene 1 hour and 25 minutes. No damage resulted from the blaze, the firemen confining it to its source.

The Young Women's Bible Class of the Bethany Lutheran church will conduct a bake sale in the B and E. shop, Center street, from 1 to 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

CULBERTSON CUTS HIS REQUIREMENTS FOR OPENING BIDS

This is the fifth of a series of 12 articles on the new bidding rules in the 1941 Culbertson System.

BY WM. E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

The requirements for opening bids in the 1941 Culbertson System have, in certain cases, been reduced. For example, an opening bid may be made in a six-card major (but not a minor) suit with only two-plus honor-tricks in the hand. With a six-card minor suit, you will need two-and-one-half to bid.

These requirements apply to any position from first to fourth hand.

East's opening bid on today's hand made use not only of this newly reduced requirement, but also of the new provision that a singleton in the hand is counted as a "plus value."

North: ♠ J 10 4 3 ♥ K 6 ♦ 10 9 ♣ K Q 10 6 2
West: ♠ 8 7 2 ♥ J 9 5 3 ♦ A J ♣ A J 8 3
East: ♠ 9 6 ♥ A 10 8 7 4 2 ♦ K Q 7 3 ♣ 4
South (Dealer): ♠ A K Q 5 ♥ Q ♦ 8 6 5 4 2 ♣ 9 7 5

Rubber—None vul.

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♥
1 ♠	3 ♥	3 ♠	4 ♥

The four-heart contract was easy. South took two spade tricks and East ruffed a third spade. The ace of clubs put dummy in, and the three of hearts was led. North played low and East played safe by finessing the seven-spot. The play of the ace would have cost him the contract, if North had had both heart honors.

North-South could not profitably have sacrificed at four spades, because East could have ruffed two clubs, and a three-trick set would have given East-West 500 points.

Chandlers Valley

Chandlers Valley, Feb. 5 Friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. Gerald Sands Saturday to help her mother, Mrs. Ramburg, celebrate her 80th birthday. The afternoon was spent visiting after which lunch was served.

A fellowship meeting was held at the U. B. church Monday evening. Devotionals were led by Rev. Maneval. Readings were given by Mrs. Ira Johnson, Mrs. Nora Skinner and Mrs. Frank Crowl. A vocal solo was sung by Calvin Gage, several selections given by the orchestdia and the Calvary Male Quartete of Jamestown gave several selections.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Wilson attended a farewell party for LaVerne Bimber Tuesday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bimber on Stilson Hill. Mr. Bimber was one of the fifteen men leaving Jamestown Friday for a years training in the army.

Mrs. Merle Carruthers of Cleveland, Ohio, is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Caroline Peterson. Other guests at the Peterson home over the week-end were Lithner Peterson of Asheville, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peterson and family of Lakewood.

Miss Eleanor Larson of Sherman was a weekend guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Larson.

Mrs. Joseph Wagner is spending some time with relatives at Pittsburgh.

Goal of British Dash Across Africa
